“WE CARE” MEDICAL MISSION CHECKLIST 2023

Medical mission trips can be a life-changing experience, being prepared is crucial to a successful and safe medical mission trip. Amazing Grace Children's Charity has provided the following guidelines, based on the most current medical and mission organizations' standards and feedback from our teams, to help prepare for your trip and while on the mission field.

BEGIN VISA APPLICATION PROCESS FOR CONFIRMED TEAM MEMBERS.

Submit signed passports, required photos, completed visa applications.

Malpractice insurance is not required in Ghana on medical missions trip. However if you would like to purchase individual or group travel insurance through your travel agent.

Have workers check their current medical policies for overseas coverage. Many US policies do not offer international coverage. Make sure the policies provide evacuation services to come home due to illness or injury.

Suggest that workers buy supplementary travel accident and sickness insurance, plus evacuation services, if their policies don't cover these, your missionary travel agency may be able to suggest reliable carriers.

PLAN AND RESEARCH BAGGAGE REGULATIONS FOR THE AIRLINE YOU ARE FLYING.

- Go to the airline website directly (usually under baggage/luggage link). Ask the airline or your missions travel agent. They can tell you the maximum free allowance per person and fee for excess bags.
- If purchasing as individual tickets, a few mission travel agencies still have exclusive contracts with some airlines for extra free luggage. Ask your travel professional for details.
- Remind your travelers of any items excluded from import into your destination country.
- Buy airline tickets ideally no later than 3 months prior to departure.
- Andrew Nyantakyi (+1 952 200 6933) our missionary travel agency in the US can facilitate our ticketing process to retain the lowest fare.
